

Culturally and Linguistically Diverse (CALD) Community Facilitators

Bilingual Korean Speaker

The Families NSW Culturally and Linguistically Diverse (CALD) Community Facilitator Project has been extended into the Ryde/Hunters Hill Local Government Areas to support consultations with members of Afghan, Iranian, Chinese and Korean communities, in order to help parents in those communities to access relevant government and community services.

MigrantLINK is currently recruiting two Community Facilitators from the Korean community, who will work on a casual basis with MigrantLINK in organizing consultations with specific organizations to identify the community's needs for their services, and barriers to accessing them.

If you have a reasonable level of English language, have a good knowledge of and links to the Korean community without being in a leadership position, and are prepared to commit yourself to attending 8 hours of training, please contact MigrantLINK for more information, and to put in an expression of interest. Time spent in training, and working on developing consultations will be paid for at an hourly rate.

Applications will close on Friday 16th May, 2008
